BATTLES IN PEAKS

ALPS COULD TELL STORY THAT WOULD THRILL.

Mountain Ranges the Scene of Many Historic Encounters—Passes Traversed by Soldiers Thousands of Years Ago.

If the rugged peaks of the Alps could tell their story, there would be many a thrilling and warlike incident to relate; but none so strange as the ones enacted between the Austrians and the Italians in these mountainous regions. The Italians are absolutely at home in the mountains, and the Austrians are using every invention of science to counteract this advantage. All the parapets on the steep roads, where summer tourists were wont to motor, have been demolished, and beautiful pine forests have been swept away, so that nothing shall obstruct the artillery. Large areas have been mined, and by pressing a button the Austrians can hurl an avalanche of rocks and boulders on to the heads of the advancing Italians or blow up the roads beneath their feet.

From the Cottian chain, marking the boundary of France in the west, to the Carnic and Julian Alps, north and east of the Adriatic in Austria, there are generally a thousand passes and routes of more or less note, nearly all traversed by practicable roads, and some shortened by railroad tunnels. Over these roads armies marched to battle over two thousand years ago.

Mont Cenis pass may have been Hannibal's route when, in the year 218 B. C., the Carthaginian conqueror invaded Italy with a large army, half of which he lost amidst the Alpine snows.

The conquest of some Alpine tribes by Augustus; the desultory warfare of Teutonic and Frankish hordes in the fifth and sixth centuries, and the increasing sanguinary strife of Swiss "confederates" and Austrian oppressors, which lasted from the breaking up of the Carolingian empire, in the tenth and eleventh centuries, until the crystallization of the Helvetic republic by Napoleon Bonaparte's act of mediation in 1803—all these fill the chronicles and make nearly every practicable foot of Swiss territory heroic ground.

When Napoleon entered Italy he crossed the Alps with an army of 30,000 by the Great St. Bernard pass, May 15-21, 1800. Later he constructed the great military road over the Simplon pass, from Brieg, in Switzerland, to Domodossola, in Italy, and thence to Milan.

Plain English.

An American who has been doing ambulance duty in France pretty close to the fighting line was working near another American one particularly difficult day. This friend was mild-mannered and mild-spoken, but as a French linguist he belonged to a class that would never be called for active service.

Their post was at a crossroads when the German artillery perversely began searching the neighborhood with shells. A high explosive shell dropped almost upon them; the friend was bowled over, eyes and mouth full of dirt. He stood up uncertainly.

"Whew," he remarked with emphasis, "if I just knew the French for Bon Dieu, I'd say it."

Dearie Me!

Ethel—Has Tom proposed yet, Maud?
Maud—No, not exactly.
Ethel—Not exactly! What do you mean?
Maud—Well, you know, he always used to knock when he came to our house to visit me. Well, last night he came with a ring.

A Wise Omission.

Luckily the following places were not included in General Pershing's itinerary:
Popocatepetl.
Tlatlaco.
Coatzacoalcos.
Tlahualila.
Bolopchenticul.
Hecelchakan.

Love.

"They're still very much in love with each other."
"So?"
"Yes, when she's away she writes letters to him whether she needs money or not."—Detroit Free Press.

Miss Irma Justus is visiting relatives in Gaffney, S. C.

Caught on the Curb

Frost appeared here for the first time Sunday morning and Monday morning it was here in sufficient abundance to kill all of the most tender vegetation.

Attention is called again to that car of produce which is to be shipped from here Tuesday, October 10, to the Baptist Orphanage at Thomasville. The produce will be loaded by the Helpers Class of the East Hendersonville Baptist Church, and all who care to be asked to bring in something to be included in the shipment.

Rev. F. Grover Morgan of Hickory, came up Sunday and preached to the Lutheran congregation in the Community club here at the regular hour Sunday. Rev. Morgan, it will be remembered, served this congregation as pastor during the summer months, and returned to Hickory the first of September to take up his work as member of the faculty of Lenoir college.

A. C. and E. A. Ferguson, known generally as 'The Ferguson Brothers,' who have been operating a tent show here for the past few weeks, were arrested Thursday night and carried to Asheville by Sheriff Drake on an execution issued against them judgment of $200 obtained by Elizabeth Montgomery, a former member of their company, the money being for back salary. Saturday night the tent was torn down and removed from Hendersonville.

The Hendersonville-Asheville Traffic Service, Inc., discontinued operating their cars between here and Asheville Saturday evening, and they have been taken to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where they will be operated this winter, returning next season. Mr. Andrews had a big sign painted for his car to be used on the trip to Florida carrying these words: "Hendersonville, N. C., to Fort Lauderdale, Fla." He drove through the country via Atlanta, leaving here Tuesday morning. Glover T. Orr is now running the Carolina Terrace Bus between here and Asheville on practically the same schedule as the other cars ran, but because of having only one car only half as many trips can be made.

Missing!

A small girl, aged five, was studying intently a picture of the Garden of Eden. At last she said, in a perplexed voice: "But, mother, where is the carriage?"
"Carriage!" exclaimed her mother in great surprise. "What can you mean, dear? There was no carriage in the Garden of Eden."
"But," remonstrated the child, "you told me that the Lord drove Adam and Eve out of the Garden."

H. Patterson is spending several days this week in Cincinnati.
